by Iris Wright

The unique 130th Sandwich Fair Commemorative Pin goes on sale the first day of the fair. Buy it at the Gazebo north of the Home Arts Building. Designed by Jackie Dannewitz, this stunning, black and gold, 1.25” half-circle pin is only five dollars. It may be worn on a favorite jacket, hat, or nametag to share your Sandwich Fair spirit. This pin is an addition to the pins offered each year by the Sandwich Fair Association. Add it to your collection or start a new collection.

Like other 2017 souvenirs, the pin exhibits the famous Sandwich Fair windmill with a stylish silhouette. Decorated with gold stars around the edge, the sleek design glitters. Its bicolor pattern is eye-catching and sophisticated. The metallic writing arched over the windmill spells the words “Celebrating our 130th Fair 2017.” Spanning the bottom of the pin, the words “Sandwich Fair” shine in capital letters. A limited number is available, so get yours early at the Gazebo. Take home this special keepsake as a reminder of cherished fair memories.
